COLLECTION POINT MILLSTONE

Pinelands

Imagine a beautiful sunny day .... while walking into Millstone, you are greeted by a horse or two and a band of chickens digging for snacks, you pass by lavender bushes full of butterflies, and sneak sight of a secret tree house tucked under rustling leaves, where maybe even grownups are allowed to drink their tea...

Stepping through the veranda covered in climbing flowers, you step into a cosy little Cape Dutch room, smelling of pine and feeling cool thanks to the thick walls and mosaic stone floors. Jars of home-made biscuits, cakes and jams line wooden shelves, freshly baked bread and organic veggies are stacked on wooden shelves next to you.

Order a freshly squeezed juice, a slice of quiche and nice cup of tea, settle down on a comfy chair overlooking the sunny garden, and thoroughly enjoy yourself in a place that feels like a warm home.

Run by the wonderful couple Paul and Linda Millstone is one of Cape Town's most charming places, remaining largely undiscovered. They have put their heart and soul into breathing life into this place, and it is palpable.

So for all those urban dwellers who long for more country life, to slow down, be in a community, to work with your hands, to just enjoy life, enjoy your days as they unfold and be truly local - Millstone will be real soul food for you.
